Mr. Schooley requested that the Board review proposed amendment N.J.A.C. 5:23-2.7.

The Department of Community Affairs is proposing to redefine "ordinary maintenance" to include the installation of communications wiring within a one-unit dwelling, or within an individual dwelling unit in a multi-unit building, provided that the rearrangement does not involve the penetration of a fire-rated assembly and is not located in a hazardous location as defined in Chapter 5 of the electrical subcode.

Mr. Schooley stated that he would like the Board to comment on the proposed bill.

January 9, 2013

Motion made by Mr. Arthur W. Jacobs, Sr. and seconded by Mr. Joseph F. Cantalupo, and passed, that the Board strongly opposes proposed amendment N.J.A.C. 5:23-2.7. It is the opinion of the Board that the installation of communications wiring should not be considered ordinary electrical maintenance as the Board has concerns about the public's safety. Electrical subcode technical section applications should be obtained and the work should be inspected by the enforcing agency. It is also the opinion of the Board that this work should be performed by those issued either a Telecommunication Wiring Exemption certificate or by a New Jersey Licensed Electrical Contractor (except for those exempted individuals pursuant to N.J.S.A. 45:5A-18 Exempt Work or Construction).

The Board is also concerned that without the requirement of permits and inspections, there is no one to ensure that the installation of communications wiring within a dwelling unit or in a Class 3 structure will not involve the penetration of a fire-rated assembly and will not be in a hazardous location as defined in Chapter 5 of the electrical subcode.
