Health Care Services firms employ Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aides and assist them in obtaining employment. These firms must be registered with the Division of Consumer Affairs.

Before using a health care services firm, we recommend that you check the Division of Consumer Affairs Registry of Licensed and Registered Employment Agencies at:

You also may call 973-504-6370 to check the registration status of a firm.
Introduction

Making informed decisions about home health care and Homemaker-Home Health Aides is critical when you or a loved one needs health care services in the home. This guide will help by providing you with the information that is necessary to ensure that your decision is based on an understanding of the role, services and responsibilities of a Homemaker-Home Health Aide, as well as the training and credentials required of them.

An extensive list of resources to obtain additional information is included in this guide.
New Jersey Board of Nursing’s Responsibilities

The New Jersey Board of Nursing is mandated to protect the health, safety and welfare of New Jersey residents.

The New Jersey Nurse Practice Act mandates the Board to:

- Prescribe standards and curricula for Homemaker-Home Health Aide education and training programs; review and approve training programs; and suspend or revoke program approvals as warranted.

- Require that a Registered Professional Nurse (R.N.) develop and supervise the plan of care implemented by the Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide (“CHHA”).

- Certify Homemaker-Home Health Aides when the required training course is successfully completed and a promise of employment is provided to the Board from a New Jersey-licensed home health care agency. The Aide must renew his or her certificate every two years. When warranted, the Board may suspend or revoke a Homemaker-Home Health Aide’s certification.

- Conduct criminal history background checks on all Homemaker-Home Health Aides applying for certification and renewal of certification.

- Establish and maintain a registry of individuals who complete the required training and have been certified.
Choosing a Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide: Determining What Services You Need

Before purchasing home care services, discuss the care you will require with your nurse, doctor or hospital discharge planner to be sure you understand exactly what type of service you require:

- Health care services are provided by Registered Professional Nurses (R.N.s), Licensed Practical Nurses (L.P.N.s), and other providers such as occupational therapists, physical therapists, respiratory therapists, dieticians and social workers.

- A New Jersey Registered Professional Nurse designs the plan of care and delegates responsibilities to and supervises personal or assistive services provided by the CHHA. The CHHA assists the nurse by providing personal care and homemaker services such as bathing, dressing, toileting, personal meal preparation, feeding, light laundering for the patient, tidying the patient’s room, as well as exercise regimens and errands.

- Generally, housekeeping services such as shopping, cooking, and laundering for the family are not provided by a CHHA. These services are more appropriately provided by a housekeeper, companion or domestic service provider.

- Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aides must be employed by a New Jersey-licensed home health care services agency. A certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide may not work privately.
Employment Settings for Homemaker-Home Health Aides

The New Jersey Nurse Practice Act was amended in 1999 to clarify employment settings for Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aides. A Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide is employed by a New Jersey-licensed home health care services agency and performs delegated nursing regimens or nursing tasks delegated through the authority of a duly licensed Registered Professional Nurse.

The following are facilities which may employ Homemaker-Home Health Aides provided that they are certified by the State of New Jersey:

- home health agencies;
- assisted living residences;
- comprehensive personal care homes, assisted living programs, hospices or alternate family care providers licensed by the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services;
- nonprofit organizations; and
The Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide
Must Meet These Requirements

1. Completion of a Homemaker-Home Health Aide course approved by the New Jersey Board of Nursing.

2. Successful completion of a competency evaluation by a New Jersey-licensed home health care services agency.

3. Hold a current and valid certification by the New Jersey Board of Nursing as a Homemaker-Home Health Aide. The certificate will have a State of New Jersey Seal and date of expiration; certificates expire every two years. Should you have any questions concerning a CHHA’s certification, you should call the New Jersey Board of Nursing at 973-504-6430.

4. Completion of the federal and state criminal history background checks.

5. Employment by a home care services agency, as defined on page 4.

6. Supervision by a licensed Registered Professional Nurse.
What You Need to Know About Obtaining Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide Services

❖ Be Informed

Being informed about CHHA services before a health care crisis arises will save you time and money, reduce stress and allow you to make an educated decision.

A CHHA may be obtained by talking with your doctor, nurse, hospital discharge planner, community home health care agency or hospital home care department. You may also check telephone listings under “Home Health Services.”

Remember: a Certified Homemaker-Home Health Aide must always be supervised by an R.N.

❖ Agency Licensing/Accreditation

If you select a home care provider licensed by a State agency, there are laws to protect your consumer rights.

Accrediting agencies are professional groups that establish and monitor voluntary, industrywide standards to ensure that patients receive quality home health care services. (See page 10 for a list of accrediting agencies.)

❖ Insurance

Ask whether the home care agency protects its workers and patients with insurance coverage such as Workers’ Compensation and liability insurance. If the agency does not provide insurance coverage, you will need to determine the types of insurance coverage you will be required to supply in order to protect yourself.

Be sure you understand the specifics of your own or the patient’s health insurance coverage.

❖ Tax Information When Hiring Private Care

If you hire an individual privately, meaning an individual who is neither certified nor employed by a New Jersey-licensed home healthcare services agency, you should be aware that you are required by law to pay withholding taxes, Social Security and disability payments for that individual. Also, you should recognize that this individual will not have undergone a criminal history background check.

Summary

Carefully select a home health care service provider using the following outline as a guide:

1. Contact Medicare, Medicaid or your insurance carrier to determine which home care services are eligible for reimbursement.

2. Obtain and read literature describing the home health agency's services, reimbursement procedures and patient rights.

3. Select an agency that can provide the coverage you will need. The number of service hours will be determined by the Registered Professional Nurse and your insurance company. Be specific about the number of hours (either daily or weekly) that you will need a CHHA. Clarify, in advance, whether the same CHHA will be available.

4. Be sure to contact the home care services agency with any concerns you may have related to your care. Contact the New Jersey Board of Nursing to file a complaint about a nurse or a CHHA. You can reach the Board by calling 973-504-6430.

5. Keep thorough health records and maintain them in a place where others can easily locate them.

6. Always keep valuables, money, jewelry and personal financial records in a safe place.

Complaint Process

As a unit of the Division of Consumer Affairs, the New Jersey Board of Nursing (Board), takes its responsibilities seriously. A copy of the complaint will be forwarded to the licensee with a cover letter from the Board requiring a detailed written response to the allegations in the complaint. Once that response has been received, it will be reviewed and disposition may be recommended. If the Board needs additional information, the licensee may be required to appear to answer questions concerning the matter.

Please be advised that any information you supply on the complaint form may be subject to public disclosure. If an investigation into the matter is conducted, the information is subject to public disclosure only after the completion of the investigation. You are also advised that the completed complaint form is a “government record,” which the Board may be obligated to provide to anyone making a request pursuant to the Open Public Records Act (OPRA).

You are further advised that pursuant to Section 4B of Executive Order No. 26, information concerning any individual’s medical, psychiatric or psychological history, diagnosis, treatment or evaluation is not a government record subject to public access.

The disposition of the matter may take several months. Please understand that the Board can only take formal action if it finds sufficient basis that the licensee violated State laws or regulations. If the Board determines that formal action is required, the matter is referred to the Office of the Attorney General. In that case, formal charges may be filed against the licensee and the licensee will be given an opportunity to defend himself or herself. This process can take a considerable period of time.

If the complaint involves a dispute over fees, please be advised that the Board has limited jurisdiction over fees charged by professionals. If the Board determines that there is insufficient basis to pursue disciplinary action, but determines that the matter involves a fee dispute, your complaint may be referred to the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Unit of the Division of Consumer Affairs. The ADR is a free mediation service that can be helpful in resolving such matters.

Until a final determination has been made, the Board is not permitted to disclose information regarding the matter. You will be notified in writing when a final determination has been made.
